

Like most other quality products, our signage will retain it's lustrous new appearance with an occasional cleaning.

Wood Concepts, Inc. takes great pride in providing the finest quality signage available.

Our signs will provide years of valuable service with little or no maintenance.

We recommend the following procedures be done annually or as needed:

- Wash the signs using a soft bristle brush and a solution of dishwashing detergent in warm water. Be careful to rinse the unit thoroughly to remove all oxidation and soap residue.

- Dry the unit using a soft cloth to prevent chlorine bleaching. Pay particular attention to the areas which have not been etched (the flat surfaces). This "rub down" will help remove residual oxidation.

All signage manufactured by Wood Concepts is painted with high quality paint. Periodic application of automotive type wax, similar to Turtlewax, to the smooth surfaces will renew the factory luster. We do not recommend this procedure be attempted on the rough area of sandblasted signs.

Should repainting ever become desirable, follow the washing procedure outlined above. Apply superior quality petroleum based marine enamel using a brush for the rough area and foam pad type applicator for the smooth portions. (Note: If mildew or fungus has become present, most paint stores distribute products for its removal).

Signs may be repaired if structural damage occurs (auto accidents and the like).
